Admission of Wheaton College

An application for the admission of Wheaton College, Norton, Massachusetts to membership in the College Entrance Examination Board was made in March 1927 by President John Edgar Park. The application conformed in all respects to the conditions of membership as defined in the Constitution, and the Executive Committee recommended that the application be granted.

At the meeting held in November 1927 Wheaton College was admitted to membership by a unanimous vote.

Admission of the University of California

At a meeting of the Executive Committee held on Friday, January 6, 1928, an application for the admission of the University of California to membership in the College Entrance Examination Board was received from President William W. Campbell. He stated that the application had been authorized by the Regents of the University at a meeting on December 14, 1927. The application conformed in all respects to the requirements of the Board's Constitution, and the Executive Committee voted to recommend that the University of California be admitted to membership in the Board.

At the April meeting of the Board the University of California was admitted to membership by a unanimous vote.

Admission of the University of Southern California

An application for the admission of the University of Southern California to membership in the College Entrance Examination Board was made by President R. B. von Kleinsmid in an application addressed to the Secretary of the Board under date of June 21, 1927. The University stated that it desired to have its present local examinations superseded altogether by the examinations of the Board. From the application it appeared that the average enrollment of first year college students for the three-year period 1925-1927 had been approximately 1300 and that the teaching staff in 1927 consisted of 105 professors, 80 assistant professors, 81 instructors, and 22 assistants. The application conformed in all respects to the requirements of the Constitution.

At its meeting in January 1928 the Executive Committee voted to recommend that the University of Southern California be admitted to membership. The recommendation was adopted by a unanimous vote at the April meeting of the Board.

It includes a discussion of the registration, scoring, validity, and reliability of the 1927 test and is illustrated by tables showing distributions, correlations, etc.

LATIN WORD LIST NOVEMBER 15, 1927

The list consists of nearly eighteen hundred words, of which candidates who have studied Latin for only two years are expected to know about nine hundred; the others are divided equally between the two later years of the Latin course.

TWENTY-SEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE

SECRETARY DECEMBER 3, 1927

The Report gives an account of the operations of the Board during its twenty-seventh year and contains statistical tables indicating the results of the examinations held in June 1927. It gives the names and addresses of 1898 secondary schools sending candidates to the Board examinations.

DEFINITION OF REQUIREMENTS DECEMBER 18, 1927

This document contains lists of subjects in which examinations are held and detailed definitions of the requirement in each subject, including lists of experiments in the natural sciences. A copy of this document will be mailed to any address upon receipt of twenty-five cents in postage.

EXAMINATION QUESTIONS, JUNE AND SEPTEMBER

1927 JANUARY 28, 1928

This volume contains the questions set at the examinations held June 20-25, 1927 by the College Entrance Examination Board, and September 19-23, 1927 by a number of universities, colleges, and scientific schools. It was published for the Board by Ginn and Company, and may be obtained from any bookseller for one dollar and forty cents a copy.

EXAMINATION CENTERS MARCH 7, 1928

List of examination centers, June 18-23, 1928.

Latin Word List

The Latin Word List, the completion of which was announced in the last Annual Report, was published by the Board in November 1927. It contains about eighteen hundred words with which candidates who have studied Latin for four years are expected to be familiar. Those who have studied Latin for two years are expected to know about one-half, and those who have studied Latin for three years about three-quarters of the words of the List. No English equivalents are given, and many Latin words are omitted which would have been included if frequency of occurrence had been the only consideration. These are words whose meaning may be obtained easily from English derivatives and words whose meaning the candidate should be able to infer from the primitives that are included. The List does not include all the words that candidates should know, and is not offered as something to be learned in complete satisfaction of the requirement of a vocabulary. Much room is left for the exercise of judgment by teachers and examiners.

The choice of words is based upon the examination of so large an amount of Latin literature that the use of the List is not likely to restrict the reading of the schools. This examination covered Caesar's Gallic and Civil Wars, Nepos, ten speeches of Cicero, his De Senectute and De Amicitia, Sallust's Catiline and Jugurthine War, Virgil's Aeneid, Bucolics, and Georgics, and six books of the Metamorphoses of Ovid.

During the ten months ending August 31, 1928 the Board distributed about twenty thousand copies of the Latin Word List.

Scholastic Aptitude Test

The Scholastic Aptitude Test has now been held in three successive years. There were 8028 candidates in June 1926, 7343 in June 1927, and 8349 in June 1928. Last June the Test was opened for the first time to preliminary candidates and it was taken by 529 boys and girls not expecting to enter college until next year.

The Third Annual Report of the Chairman of the Commission in charge of the Scholastic Aptitude Test is printed as an appendix to the Annual Report of the Secretary of the College Entrance Examination Board. In view of the length of this year's Report upon the Test, its technical character, and the increased demand for separate copies, it has not been included in the copies of the Report intended for widest circulation. Teachers and others wishing separate copies of the Report upon the Scholastic Aptitude Test for 1928 may obtain them from the Secretary of the Board upon request.

The following table classifies the candidates who in June of the year indicated applied for no examination except the Scholastic Aptitude Test.

Plans of Admission to College

In the spring of 1915 representatives of Harvard, Yale, and Princeton met in conference to consider the feasibility of bringing about a more general use of the so-called New Plan of admission to college. The conference requested the College Entrance Examination Board to prepare and conduct comprehensive examinations. Each applicant for admission by the New Plan was expected to take four comprehensive examinations. It was understood that the results of these examinations would be considered not separately but together and in conjunction with the candidate's record in the secondary school. No report upon the examinations was to be sent to the candidate by the Secretary of the College Entrance Examination Board.

Comprehensive examinations were held by the Board for the first time in June 1916. They were taken by 495 candidates. The answer books written by the applicants for admission to each college were sent directly to the college without being read by the Board.

In 1919 Mount Holyoke, Smith, Vassar, and Wellesley by joint action discontinued the use of the certificate plan of admission and recommended to the secondary schools that they encourage their pupils so far as possible to present themselves by the New Plan. These colleges asked the Board to appoint readers who should assign provisional ratings to the answer books written by their New Plan candidates. The following year Harvard, Yale, and Princeton began also to submit to the Board the answer books written by their New Plan candidates.

In recent years the New Plan has been modified in a number of respects and other "new plans" have been formulated by various colleges. The unfortunate name New Plan has led to many misunderstandings. It was, of course, understood by those who introduced the name that it could not survive indefinitely in the vocabulary of the educational community.

It seems important that the College Entrance Examination Board should not by its example prolong the use of the names of Old Plan and New Plan. For a number of years Yale University in its official publications has referred to the New Plan as Plan B. Following this lead the Secretary prepared the following statement for insertion in the Board's Bulletin of General Information for 1929:

Candidates who take the examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board are divided into two classes. The candidates of one class are said to take their examinations according to Plan A; those of the other class are said to take their examinations according to Plan B. Plan A includes the so-called Old Plan. Plan B includes the so-called New Plan.

A candidate who takes his examinations according to Plan A receives from the Secretary of the College Entrance Examination Board a certificate indicating the results of his examinations with the exception only of the Scholastic Aptitude Test. A candidate who takes his examinations according to Plan B receives no report from the College Entrance Examination Board. Information in regard to the results of the examinations taken by such a candidate must be obtained from the Committee on Admissions of the educational institution that the candidate wishes to enter.

According to Plan A the candidate expects, in most cases, to take examinations in a sufficient number of subjects to make up a complete set of admission requirements aggregating, ordinarily, fifteen points. Any candidate who postpones a part of his examinations until the following year is regarded as a Plan A candidate. A candidate who takes examinations for advanced standing, that is, for credit in college, or a candidate already in college who takes the Board examinations to make up conditions is regarded as a Plan A candidate. The certificate that a Plan A candidate receives from the College Entrance Examination Board should be sent without delay to the Committee on Admissions of the educational institution concerned.

A candidate is said to take his examinations according to Plan B if the college to which he is an applicant excuses him upon the basis of his school record from taking examinations in some of the subjects included in a complete set of admission requirements. Most frequently a Plan B candidate takes examinations in four subjects studied during the last year of the secondary school. Some colleges excuse students who have a sufficiently good school record from all examinations except the Scholastic Aptitude Test.

The ratings assigned by the Board's readers to the answer books of a Plan B candidate are only provisional and are subject to review by the college that the candidate wishes to enter. The college, after taking into consideration all available evidence bearing on the candidate's character and scholastic qualifications, informs him whether or not he will be admitted.

In order to take his examinations under Plan B a candidate must indicate in his application for examination the college that he wishes to enter. If he names more than one college he must indicate the order in which he will apply to these colleges. He cannot be considered by the second college pending the decision of the first college. His answer books and other credentials will be forwarded to the second college only upon the receipt of a request addressed by him to the authorities of the first college.

Plan B—The "New Plan"

The number of candidates presenting themselves according to Plan B was 3,350 this year as against 2,876 last year and 2,700 in June 1926. The total for this year includes 350 candidates for admission to the University of Pennsylvania, all of whom were required to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test, although many of them were examined by the Board in fewer than four subjects.

The following table classifies according to the institutions designated on their applications the Plan B candidates during the five-year period 1924-1928:

A list of the schools whose pupils received one or more highest ratings is not included this year in the Annual Report of the Secretary. For a number of years the Secretary has been receiving protests against the publication of this list on the ground that it encouraged comparisons in which more weight was attached to mathematics than to all other examination subjects taken together. For example, in June 1927 there were 163 ratings of 100 in mathematics. Among the other examination subjects there was only one rating of 100, and the highest rating was usually obtained by a single candidate.

At the examinations held last June the following six candidates received two highest ratings each:

Reading of the Answer Books in June 1928

The reading of the answer books began on Tuesday, June 19, the second day of the examination week, and continued through Monday, July 2, when the last reader finished. The readers were divided among the several subjects in the following manner:

The total number of answer books submitted to the readers, not including the books written at the Scholastic Aptitude Test, was 74,140, as against 74,957 in June 1927, and 74,222 in June 1926. Excluding candidates who applied for no examination except the Scholastic Aptitude Test there was in 1927 an increase of 510 in the number of candidates and an increase of 735 in the number of answer books. In 1928 the number of candidates applying for examinations other than the Scholastic Aptitude Test increased by 300 but the number of answer books diminished by 817. The explanation of this somewhat surprising reversal seems to be found chiefly in the Board's announcement that after this year it will no longer hold separate examinations in English 1 and English 2. In 1927 these examinations were taken by 3,430 candidates. In June 1928 they were taken by only 1,908 candidates. The total number of answer books written at the various examinations in English this year was 10,605 as against 11,401 last year. In Latin, in which also a change in the requirements is impending, the number of answer books written in 1928 was 11,820 as against 12,417 in 1927.

Table XIV indicates for each examination subject the number of answer books read, the number of hours spent in the reading, the average number of answer books rated per hour, and the cost of the reading per book. The total number of hours was 34,636, an average of 2.14 books per hour as against 2.22 in 1927 and 2.26 in 1926.

Department of Records

Some details in regard to the work of recording and reporting the results of the Board's examinations will be of interest to the readers of this Report. Throughout the entire year this Department is occupied with the preparation of duplicate reports, the issue of photostatic copies of answer books, and replies to requests for information of a statistical character. Its activities, however, assume special importance about a month before the examinations when the applications for examination begin to arrive in considerable numbers. Tickets of admission must be filled out and mailed to the candidates. The number applying for examination at each center and in each subject must be recorded in advance of the examinations. Forms for transmission to each supervisor must be prepared. Name, address, and various other details in regard to each candidate must be entered not only upon the Board's permanent record sheet but also upon the reporting form intended for the candidate and for the college concerned.

Some of the devices for preventing the loss of answer books, for detecting fraud on the part of candidates, for preventing clerical errors, and for safeguarding the records were described in the Twenty-Second Annual Report of the Secretary and again on pages 193 to 195 of the Board's Anniversary Volume, "The Work of the College Entrance Examination Board, 1901-1925."

The work of the Department of Records during the Board's busy season never fails to elicit the interest of those who happen to visit the offices of the Board. At the peak of its work last June the Department was using more than 8,000 square feet of space.

In 1928 the total number of temporary assistants employed by the Department of Records was 182. The following table indicates the institutions from which they were drawn:
